World Death Rate Holding Steady At 100 Percent

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND—World Health Organization officials expressed disappointment Sunday over the group's finding that, despite the enormous efforts of doctors, rescue workers, and other medical professionals worldwide, the global death rate remains at 100 percent.

Death, a metabolic affliction causing shutdown of all life functions, has long been considered humanity's number-one health concern. Responsible for 100 percent of all recorded fatalities worldwide, the condition has no cure.

"I was really hoping, what with all these new radiology treatments, rescue helicopters, cardiovascular-exercise machines, and what have you, that we might at least make a dent in it this year," WHO Director General Dr. Ernst Wessel said. "Unfortunately, it would appear that the death rate remains constant, as it has since the dawn of time."

Many suggest that the high mortality rate represents a massive failure on the part of the planet's healthcare workers.

"The inability of doctors and scientists to address and confront this issue of death is nothing less than a scandal," concerned parent Marcia Grella said. "Do you have any idea what a full-blown case of death looks like? I do, and believe me: it's not pretty. In prolonged cases, total decomposition of the corpse is the re-
